Hi Tech . . . What's New?

What's new in the Year of Our Moon '01? With the landing of American astronauts on the lunar surface last summer, the whole world is repeating the famous phrase of Neil Armstrong, "That's a small step for a man, but a giant leap for mankind."

Only yesterday, men doubted man's ability to conquer space; today commercial airplanes are starting a waiting list for lunar tourists. Tomorrow, who knows what frontiers of earth and space man may conquer yet? In such a world of new beginnings, many feel the old times are gone.

IN THE LIMBO of the Main's fourth floor, an ancient clock with a tortured second hand takes its final time-out.

SALLY HARDING SHOWS OFF her extra huge sun glasses in the morning's bright sun light. Sally was often seen in her "bug-eyes".

CHERYL LEE and Carolyn Hand show that comfort and ease were made available for girls when culottes appeared on the '70 scene.

NEW? WILD? CRAZY? Fashions are about as far out as outer space. Slave bracelets such as this one attract attention.

Bold fashions, new look on campus

HAIR, HAIR EVERYWHERE and not a lock in place. Hair is the "in" thing this year and it's popping out everywhere—not only on the head, but on the lips and chin as well.

...and on the Tech Campus? Mod pavement pounders are new; culottes for girls are new (and legalized!) Bells are back—not just tardy bells, but bell bottom pants . . . bright and bold or plain, with flair that's conservative or full enough for elephants. Hair continues to grow . . .

Meanwhile, adjusted perfectly for earth vision, bug-eye glasses are out of sight! New! New! New! What's next? Wait and see!

STEPHANIE IMEL (center) and Glenda Arnett undoubtedly censor the use of scissors on their ever-growing long hair, while Judy Carroll has given up the struggle. Scissors may apply also to clothing as hemlines continue to climb.

FIFTH PERIOD LUNCH presents a host of hungry Techites eating in haste, talking, and scrambling to add the finishing touches to today's homework before bell time.

Order amid confusion characterizes Tech life

In a world of racial strife, Viet Nam war, LSD, and Laugh-In, much remains the same as before. The sun sends its morning rays through the branches of Liberty Grove. Birds awake as Techites arrive to share a few moments with friends. At intervals, the ringing of the bell triggers an onslaught of people, pouring into halls and walkways—calling 5,000 cheery "hi's" to the rhythm of moving feet.

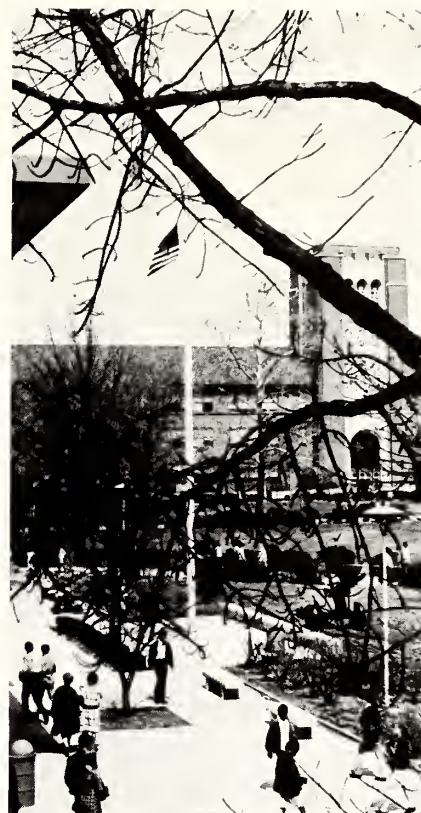

The cafeteria becomes a track where everyone practices the fine art of walking faster than he can run—driven not so much by hunger as by the desire for leisure time to spend with friends.

A NEW DAY BREAKS on Liberty Grove and the old familiar routine begins again. The trees date from World War I.

"WHAT'S NEW? Where's everyone going in such a rush? New friends say hi and old friends leave me. Gee I wish that I could be a Titan and run like that," a campus mutt seems to be saying.

NOT NEW BUT ALWAYS TYPICAL, is the hustle of students as they go to class.

HAVE YOU EVER been in the doorway when the bell rings? Good luck! Traffic pours from the Main making headway for the next critical five minutes.

IN THE CAFETERIA everything is tongue in cheek—or is it hamburger? Ask Richard Gibson; maybe he knows.

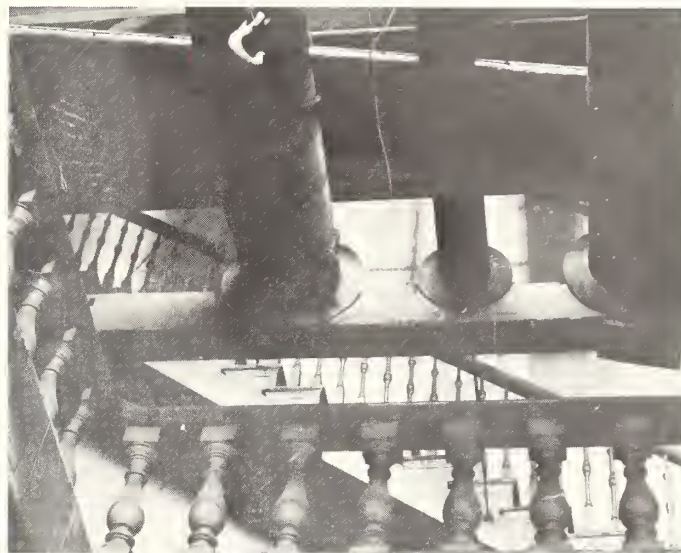

APERFECT SETTING for a ghost story, the tower stairs of the Arsenal are a little known area on the campus.

APPROPRIATELY HAUNTED BY A STROBE GHOST, the gears of the old clock groan and echo in the dusky gloom.

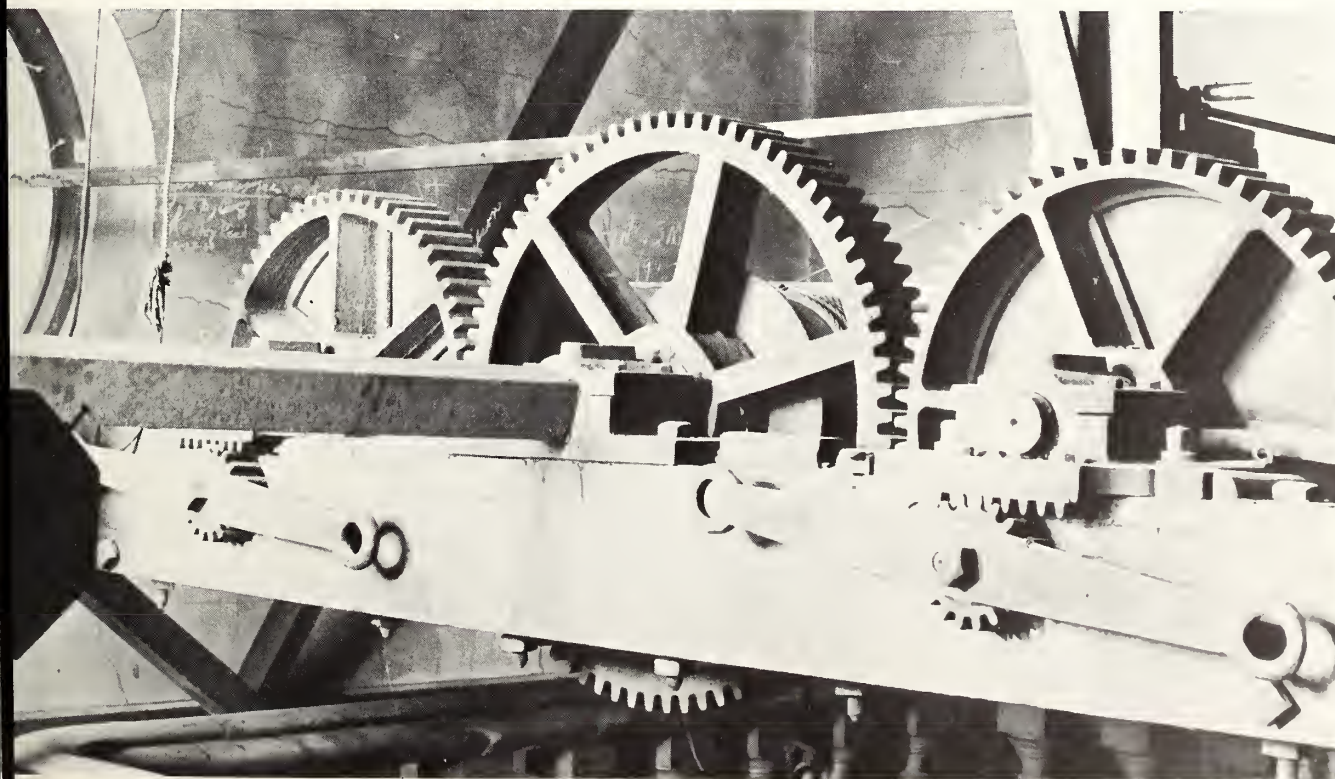

What's old is new . . . Arsenal Tower

Those who want a new experience should visit the oldest spot on the campus . . . Arsenal Tower. Stepping from Tech's busy modern halls into the Tower is like stepping back into the days of castles and knights. Its cracked and crumbling walls add to the medieval air; and in the shadowy mist of many flights of long darkened stairs the eerie feeling of long ago hangs all around. At the top sit the works of the three ancient clocks. The massive gears now provide the power to turn the hands that were once stopped. From this aged alcove we obtain the time that we live by today.

LOOKING UP THE TOWER STAIRWELL the infrequent visitor studies the suspension of weights to activate the gears. Renovation two years ago enabled the clock to catch up with the times.

A RANK OF RUSTY GEARS mesh their cogs and turn the hands of the three-faced clock. The hundred year old levers help regulate the actions of the clockwork and increase accuracy.

Full calendar keeps Titans moving

SUNNY WEATHER brings band and art classes outdoors to practice their skills. Herman Richardson takes refuge under a towel.

SHIRLEY DAVIDSON finally "gets it" as Mrs. Pauline Caldwell explains the slide rule.

"IF THINGS GET IN YOUR WAY—move 'em." This must be the Majorettes' motto as some terrified motorist will soon find out.

AWED BY IT ALL, Carol Beverly keeps her cool at another Titan football game.

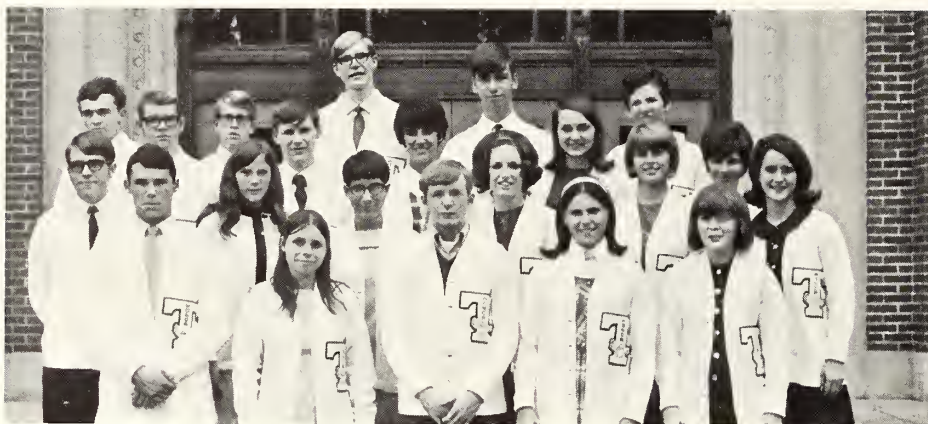

PULLING TOGETHER yearbook staffers take time out from the book to enjoy a day at Broad Ripple Park.

And busy times they are! Throughout the school year our campus buzzes with a vast variety of activities. Senior roll rooms design floats for the Homecoming. A botany class hastens to discover the world of plants at first hand before snow appears. Work progresses on the 1405 project of the Building Trades Department. In the Printshop nine male pupils learn to set cold type by magnetic tape. And a new class, Cashiering, "registers" with pupils. If the pupil wants it, Tech has it.

Honors, activity, dates keep '70 Seniors busy

The great day is upon us! We are seniors—upper classmen—the priority set of the campus. Our life at Tech is coming to a close. Just four short years ago, we were the fumbling freshmen who were dropping our books and getting lost three fourths of the time. Gradually, we grew, both physically and mentally, until now, we are the elite senior class of Tech High School—the Class of 1970.

"Senior"-ority is something special. It is achieved through three years of toil and sweat. It represents 2,790 minutes of underclass roll room, crowned by achieving senior status. It is a year of senior activity, quickening at last in commencement. And suddenly from this final viewpoint we realize that our years at Tech have zipped by with dizzying speed.

Friends crowd memory years

Yesterday, today, tomorrow . . . Four years of living and learning . . . in snow, slush and ice of winter, in the lilac fragrance of blossoming spring. And through it all, Tech, you have been ours . . . our friend.

You are the tears of an F on grade day, the smiles of pride in a job well done . . . the friendships remembered. You have given us a few short years of laughter, learning, and competition. We thank you, Tech. You are no longer a few buildings, and a bell; you are a part of us—a helper for four years, a reminder for the rest of our lives, a memory that will never die.

Activities

Cheerleaders put pazzaz in Titan spirit

The cheerleader spirit campaign is receiving an enthusiastic welcome from the student body. Selling booster badges and booster buttons, the lovelies promoted school spirit and instilled Tech pride.

Boosting the various athletic groups is an important job for the cheerleaders. Before each game they decorate the team rooms and bulletin boards. Occasionally, the boys are surprised by a sack of goodies prepared by the girls.

During the games the cheerleaders must change a lifeless blob of people into enthusiastic Titan fans. They have been repaid by the joy of creating zest.

Reserve and Varsity participate jointly during the football season. Reserves sparked the cheerblock during the basketball season while Varsity led cheers from the floor. The freshman group, chosen in mid-fall, participated at freshman basketball games.

NEITHER RAIN nor cold keeps Mary Jones, varsity cheerleader, from showing Tech spirit at sport events for Tech.

SITTING AMONG THE DEBRIS of one of the Tech games is Andrea Hunt. Her injury does not subdue her "go-get-'em" spirit.

WITH LOTS OF ENTHUSIASM and plenty of pep, Jenny Corsaro, varsity cheerleader, helps lead Titan cheers.

RESERVE CHEERLEADER Freida Mindach helps yell about the strength of the Titans at reserve and varsity games.

VARSITY AND RESERVE Cheerleaders salute the flag at the opening of the Shortridge football game. (See page 150.)

"THERE MUST BE A WAY . . ." Karen Darland and Susie Cutshaw ponder the problem of winning more spirit at a home football game.

WITH A YELL and lots of nerve, the Varsity and Reserve cheerleaders collapse their popular human pyramid.

MARSHA SHEWMAN keeps warm under a cozy blanket during half-time at one of the colder home games.

DRUM MAJORS Jim Alstott and Henrietta Peterman step off briskly as they lead the marching band in the Veterans' Day Parade.

KEVIN DAVIS, enjoys the antics of Joyce Washington, but the rest of the band seems unimpressed.

THE TITAN MARCHING BAND frames the Soldiers and Sailors Monument as they near the end of a long hard march in the Veterans' Day Parade. The new uniforms came in the spring.

Bandsmen, Majorettes feature new togs

MAJORETTES Tina Hart and Ellen Anderson relieve their tensions with some baton-play as the band prepares line-up before a football game.

Earning money for new uniforms was the biggest goal set by the Band this year. The uniforms cost about $110 each; over a hundred were ordered to arrive in time for the 500 Festival Parade. The biggest money-making project was the Chatard game which was declared Band Night.

During November, the band made the switch from march music to more serious works. The group played for the Thanksgiving Assembly.

Majorettes, too, acquired new uniforms. Appearing at the first home game in their new silver outfits, the Titanettes this year, came up with a new idea. Half of the girls did a dance routine while the rest of them twirled batons. The groups alternated, injecting more interest into the half time shows.

DRUM MAJOR Jim Alstott steps out as the band moves to a new formation.

THE BAND and majorettes execute a close-order drill during half time at one of Tech's home football games.

"THIS IS HOW IT'S DONE!" says Majorette sponsor Mrs. Donna Sims as she demonstrates a new routine in after-school practice.

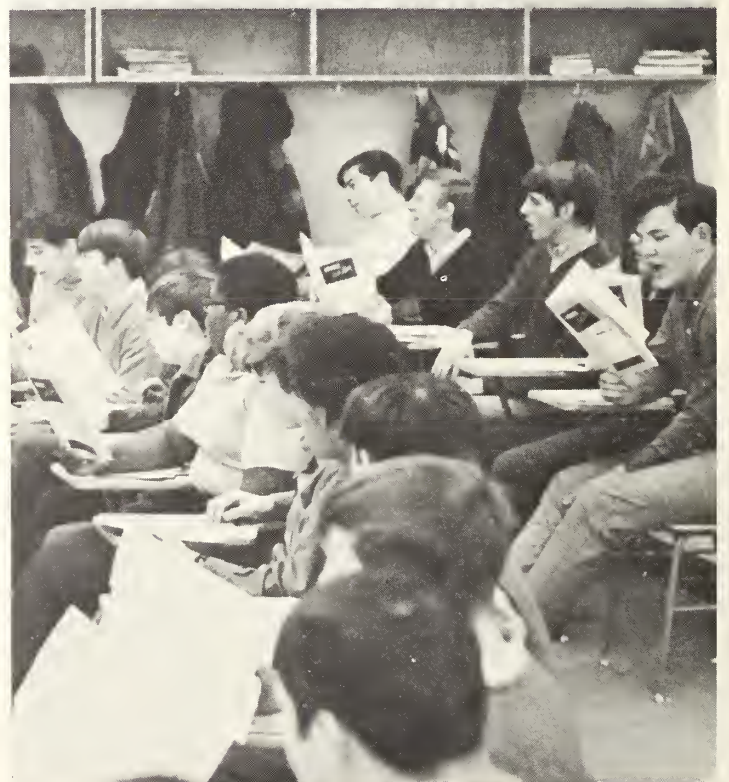

CHERYL WALSH who joined the Music Department second semester, happily introduces herself by singing to the Girls Concert Club. Miss Walsh arrived just in time to coach the girls for some of the vocal events in the State Music Contests.

IN A FUN-PACKED PRACTICE SESSION, members of the Girls Concert Club are busy trying to memorize festival music. For two Saturdays in January, Tech was host school for the contests.

AFTER SHEDDING WINTER WOOLENS, and completely unmindful of the 22 degrees below zero weather outside, the Boys Concert Club members warm their souls with peppy songs.

Groups groove toward programs, games

SAXOPHONISTS RANDY WADE, Paul Richardson and Dennis Weeden strive for perfect harmony during a rehearsal. The 17 piece group enjoyed a growing program of outside engagements.

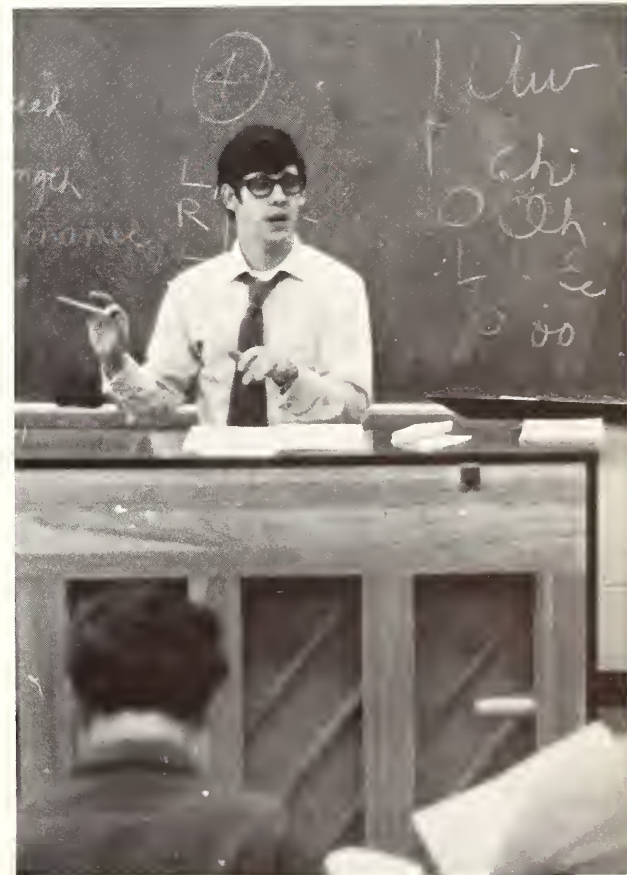

DON KNORR UNDERSTUDIES THE "MUSIC MAN" for a dance band appearance, coaxing hot and sweet sounds from the slide trombone.

In numerous practice sessions, the 53 girls in Concert Club readied for the Christmas program for which they donned their new green A-line dresses and sang with other vocal groups.

Earl Shay, new director of the Boys Concert Club, prepared the 30 boys for a program to be sung with the Techoir at Christmas time.

Class after school? Sure, if you want to be in the Dance Band. Under the baton of director Joseph Bachmeyer, the group rehearses after school almost every day. The 17 members enjoyed playing in the "big band" style which is currently experiencing a comeback.

In its second year, the band played at the Senior Parents Reception and the Marshall High School Military Ball. Doubling as the pep band for Tech's basketball games kept members busy at work, but they didn't mind the free tickets to games.

EARL SHAY, gives the rhythm a physical interpretation as he coaches the Boys Concert Club for a program.

Orchestra, handbells make sweet sounds

Strolling in the second floor of the Cafeteria-Music Building the ninth period, one is likely to hear the Concert Orchestra rehearsing. Under the direction of John White, the orchestra has compiled quite a repertoire, including a number of overtures, fuguetas, and symphonies. While participation is a strenuous job of endless practice, both individual and group, the end result is an experience. The group plays for performances at school assemblies, open-air concerts, and PTA meetings. "Versatility" is one of the key words of the Orchestra. Through the efforts of Mr. White, the group has mastered tunes from all over the world.

If you happen by room 634 sixth period and hear bells ringing, don't worry; you're not doomed to marriage. It is only the Burt Handbell Choir practicing for a performance. Directed by Mrs. J. Loesje Mendel, the fourteen members perform for PTA meetings, church services, and dinners. The White Chapel English handbells, donated by Mrs. Burt LaBerge, came from England and are valued at $3,000 for the 64 bell set.

MRS. LOESJE MENDEL demands the coordination that makes the Handbell Choir a thrilling experience.

THE BURT HANDBELL CHOIR performs for Open House in the Cafeteria, as parents and friends look on.

JOANETTA CARTER and Rose Bond practice a difficult passage during orchestra rehearsal.

MAYBE NOT CHIMES, but members of the handbell choir certainly do ring their bells. Caught in action, they perform for the Open House program in the Student Cafeteria.

GIRLS ENSEMBLE MEMBERS Sharon Barlow, Kris McDonald, Debby Miller, Andi Hunt, Libbi Michael, Karen Darland, Debbie Kuykendall, Lydia Strong, and Cindy Lewis in new lace-trimmed gowns, add a spot of spirit to the Tech Open House.

New people, outfits help Octette, Ensemble

MRS. J. LOESJE MENDEL gives thoughtful counsel to Ensemble members.

Each year, the Girls Ensemble appears in new outfits. This year, due to various delivery troubles, the girls went on a crash shopping spree, and found several yards of hunter green velveteen, and a skein of lace. While hands and needles flew, the shoe store, delayed at first, came through with dyed green shoes and matching purses. So outfitted, the girls stepped out ready for a successful season.

The group was increased to twelve voices this season, and had the direction of a new instructor, Mrs. J. Loesje Mendel.

Stepping out in green Edwardian jackets and plaid pants with gold shirts and ties to match, the Boys Octette went swinging with their singing. Although coordination is not a requirement for the Octette, it surely helped this year. The nine members used flinging arms, flying legs, and all the tricks of "staging" to get their messages to the audience. Mr. Earl Shay directed the boys the first semester, and Mr. Moon led them the second semester giving the group excellent opportunity to adopt their new style. Audience response was encouraging.

SHARON BARLOW, Nancy Bottoms, Carla Abell, Susan Beeson, and Linda Chapman achieve "nice work" as they coordinate rehearsal efforts.

LIBBI MICHAEL and Debby Miller give full attention to a new Ensemble number during a classroom practice.

SAM PRICE AND JOHN MASTERS blend voices in a Broadway musical selection which added to the Octette repertoire.

"ALLEY CAT" proved to be an animated number for Karen Darland and Debbie Kuykendall. Libbi Michael is in the background.

ACCOMPANIED BY PAT FINNIGAN, members of the Boys Octette, Mike Stanfield, Jim Farrior, and Tom Hickey run through a few choral numbers in an off-hours practice.

OCTETTE MEN Sam Price, Dave Devitt, and Paul Wilson gather 'round to lend their animated efforts to a new Octette number.

Techoir, Melodayres make joyful sound

The 1969-70 Techoir opened the year with a bang—and a tape measure. One day of ardent rehearsal was given up to measure the seventy-six members. Eighty new robes were ordered at a cost of $2,023.25. In an effort to pay for these, the Techoir sold candy, tickets to the Chatard football game, and the Techoir Christmas record, recorded on November 30.

Christmas brought a new style to traditional performances. On December 22, the melodious merchants of music boarded buses to carol to downtown listeners. The tour began at the City-County Building, included WFBM on Monument Circle, and WISH Studios, and ended in Ayres Tea Room for the annual Techoir Christmas luncheon.

Caroling at night is a traditional performance of the choir, and December 23 found them bundled up and singing. Shown on December 25, following a CBS special, the Christmas program, "From Our House to Your House", was the climax of the season.

But, the highlight of the year came on January 18 when the Techoir provided the chorus for the Indianapolis Symphony.

Stepping out in new outfits, the Melodayres performed all around town with songs ranging in style from contemporary pieces to 16th century madrigals. The group, with girls wearing emerald green and royal blue brocade gowns and boys in tuxedos, is the only small mixed ensemble at Tech.

A few memorable performances of the Melodayres were for the All-City Teachers Conference at Arlington, Open House, Indiana Bell's Christmas Party, and the Christmas program here at Tech. The group entered the City Vocal Contest held at Tech. Seven of the Melodayres also entered as soloists.

MELODAYRES REHEARSE sweet music for a Christmas program. They had a full calendar.

FLANKED BY THE CODE OF CONDUCT as formulated by a student-faculty committee, the Techoir sings the "Battle Hymn of the Republic" at the annual Thanksgiving assembly while the audience joins in the chorus.

"WE WISH YOU THE MERRIEST" was a Techoir Christmas feature taped by Paul Bender.

CAROLING ALL THE WAY, Techoir members ride the escalators in a downtown department store amid the Christmas rush.

TECHOIR MEMBERS relax for a bit of by-play during the cutting of their Christmas record the day after Thanksgiving.

"LITTLE BLACK TRAIN" proves to be a peppy Melodayres number of the Open House program in November.

MRS. ANN SWEDEEN shows great enthusiasm rehearsing her proteges.

HOURS OF DEVOTED PRACTICE result in a finished Melodayres performance. (For identification of members, refer to page 149)

SAO builds spirit, pride in Tech image

The Student Affairs Organization is the student government body of Tech. Under the direction of President Ron Buses, members of the Executive Board, and representatives from each roll room, the SAO took on many projects during the year. They sponsored the Spirit Campaign, gave a needy family a Thanksgiving basket, and held an all-school dance. To help raise money, the SAO manned four booths at the Mardi Gras and sold booster badges throughout the basketball season. Mrs. Martha Turpin and Mrs. Dorothy Stout provided invaluable advice during the weekly board meetings in the Student Center.

They sit silently for a few moments as some youth recites a prayer. Methodists and Catholics both repeat the words in their minds. No matter what their denomination may be or to what extent their faith influences their lives, pupils find a session in Prayer Circle is the best way to start the day. During the Christmas season, Prayer Circle members, caroling and visiting nursing homes, rediscovered the joy of giving.

Y-Teens helped support the Tech Cheer-block and the fireworks display at Homecoming. They also collected toys for needy children, entertained the elderly, and helped with contributions for UNICEF. The Y-Teens made fun-times of swimming, parties, slumber parties, and dances.

During the 1969-70 school year, the Human Relations Committee worked on three main projects.

They made their annual visit to School 101 to talk informally to 8th graders about Tech policies, their responsibilities upon entering Tech, and maintaining the Tech Way. The council hopes to help guide new pupils into four fulfilling years.

The main project of the year was the Students Have Their Week program, in which all 9th hour classes visited the Forum in small groups. There they talked about the problems on the Tech campus and suggested solutions. The project was unique in that only four adults attended the meetings. They were: Howard Longshore, principal; Robert Meyer, director of student activities; and the organization's co-sponsors Mrs. Sarah Hamer, and Mr. William Guess.

Working with the Social Studies Department, the Human Relations Committee also helped write up the new student code.

FOOD . . . WONDERFUL FOOD—a host of hungry mouths waited at the French Club Christmas Party.

SOFT LIGHTS of Christmas provide just the right atmosphere for an evening of gab and plain old-fashioned fun for members of the Tech French Club.

Bilingual scholars participate in activities

WHO is the German Club's absent-minded professor? Geneva Jones takes over Bob Kares' role as Kim Anderson intervenes.

Have you heard of the absent-minded professor who walked away with a friend's umbrella? Bob Kares played the part in a German Club play and broke up the audience. "Der Zerstreute Professor" was one of three short plays enacted by club members. Other actors were Mee Lun Chew, Henry Ragan, Kim Anderson, and Geneva Jones.

The club also enjoyed a Christmas dinner (German menu) at the Marott Hotel. Some of their funds were proceeds from the club's flower booth at Mardi Gras.

The French Club's highlight this year was their annual Christmas dinner at Mrs. Mary Bedell's house. While the quich-Lorraine was cooking members played brain-teasing games and nibbled on potato chips, pretzels, and cat's tongue (a French pastry). To top the evening, the group sang Christmas songs in French.

The club also went to Turkey Run for a picnic, and had a flea market at Mardi Gras in October.

Disadvantaged Mexican children of the Tech area were guests of the Spanish Club for their Christmas party at 704 North Park Avenue.

Youngsters enjoyed a Santa Claus complete in sombrero, rock music, soft drinks, and cookies. Small gifts showered down from two piñatas. The crepe paper snow man and donkey were made by members at earlier meetings.

Members of the Latin club went to Butler University to see a presentation of the play "Electra."

Donna Taylor, president, and Harold Lund took the Latin test for the Indiana University honors program, with a trip to Italy as the prize.

The Latin club also celebrated the Christmas season, or Satunalia, by singing such traditional songs as "Oh Come All Ye Faithful" in Latin.

MIKE TRITTIPO coaches Jennifer Browning in a game of tilt during the French Club party at the home of Foreign Language Department head, Mrs. Mary Bedell, and Mr. Bedell.

Pupils preview teaching, library work

Industrial Cooperative Training, open to both juniors and seniors over 16 years of age, presently involves ten companies with sixteen different occupations. Students worked at least three hours a day, receiving two hours of ICT credit. Most students advanced to full-time work after graduation with no further education needed.

Young people that are thinking of teaching as an occupation may find out if they are right for the job. In the Exploratory Teachers program they went to a nearby grade or junior high school and, under a classroom teacher, learned the trade.

Future Teachers of America members sold Christmas ribbon, sponsored dinners for the members, filled Christmas stockings given to children in hospitals, and participated in a student teaching week during which they taught Tech classes.

Voluntary jobs done by the 57 students in the Tech Library included processing, shelving, and mending, and locating books for special projects.

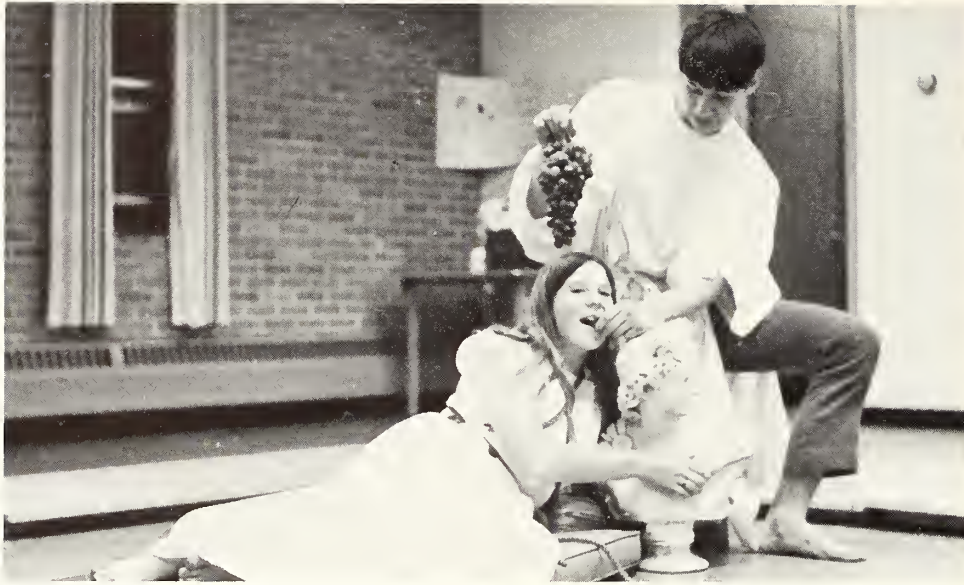

THIS IS NO WAY for Future Teachers to conduct a classroom, but K. Sayles knows that Ring Toss is a big money maker at this year's Mardi-Gras.

The Romans must have lived lavishly. Garbed in togas and seated on cushions, members of several clubs attended the History Club's Roman Banquet and lived Roman style for two hours. Highlights of the evening were a Charlie Brown Christmas play and a slave auction. After some very hot bidding Terri Grant brought the highest price, being sold into slavery for four dollars.

Other projects were selling color pictures of the Tech campus and taking trips to Nashville, Indiana; Coney Island, and the Cincinnati Zoo.

PROSPECTIVE SLAVES are herded onto a platform for the slave auction, but they don't seem worried about the outcome.

Service clubs promote pupil involvement

New members and new ideas joined forces this year to make the Key Club go! With Mahlon Carlock as sponsor of the all-boy group, everything happening proved to be fun and worthwhile. Members escorted the evening school graduates last June, presented fireworks at Homecoming, gave a Christmas basket to a needy family, and collected money to buy toys for patients at a local mental institution.

Among projects in its "Spirit Campaign" the Service Club was especially enthusiastic over 350 collected coat hangers. With the approach of Christmas, members experimented with making Santa's, wreaths, or other novelties of the hangers.

Mum was the word to all Techites attending the annual Homecoming. Over 150 traditional T-mums were sold.

Members helped the needy, and performed service within the school.

A chit-chat with girls at the Indiana Girls' School, an all-city Red Cross Club tea, dances at Flanner House, and a scrub-up campaign, "Tell It Like It Could Be," in cooperation with Tech's Service Club were activities involving the Red Cross Club this year.

Members filled 82 stockings with Christmas presents, packed a chest to send overseas to servicemen, and made Easter party packs in the spring.

Cannon Staffs go to press, then pressure is lifted

Cecil T. Tresslar, better known as "T.," has served his eleventh year as director of publications. This year the paper went to a four-column width and tried to use more pictures than in previous years. The staffers, whose various jobs include reporting and photographing, play an important part in preparing the paper.

Over 2500 papers were printed and distributed this year. Harold Deem, printing instructor, and his pupils saw to the printing of the paper.

Among some of the activities of the Cannon weekly were ISHPA conferences at Franklin and at Indiana State College, press day, and a spring dinner with the Cannon Yearbook.

Almost a full school year is devoted to composing copy, figuring layout, taking photos, and typing material for the Arsenal Cannon yearbook. Long afternoons and some evenings are spent trying to get pages together in an effort to meet deadlines. After all deadline are met, and the final inspections are made, the Cannon Office becomes a place of contentment and a degree of relaxation. Several times a year parties are held to help staffers unwind, but the greatest moment in the life of a Cannon Kiddie is when the yearbooks are received and he can see the results of much hard work.

Actors, Thespians enjoy full season

One of the most talented clubs at Tech is the Drama Club. Here a student may prove his skill in the acting field. To become a member of this group, one must attend three consecutive meetings. Through participation in plays and other activities, members receive points, ten of which earn a certificate and membership in the elite Thespians.

Something new for the drama fans was the early, early show in the Forum in January. In spite of snow and zero temperatures, a morning audience assembled at 7:30 to see "The Wonder Hat". The one-act play, an amusing fantasy, concerned a magic hat of invisibility and magic slippers that attracted friends to the wearer.

The play had been postponed after school closed a half day early for Christmas vacation.

GARY BROCKMAN, wearing the wonder hat, watches unnoticed as David Bullington is held under the spell of the magic slippers worn by charmer Sylvia Milam.

Drama fans witness 'Our Town'

April 9 and 10, drama fans witnessed the Tech debut of OUR TOWN. The play, written by Thornton Wilder, centered on typical small town life in America around 1900. Setting was no problem for the Stage Craft Department because the only props used were two ladders and a few chairs.

Costuming was a major means of relaying ideas from actors to audience. The authentic gowns were supplied by the Drama Club. Among some of the outstanding ones were the remade wedding formal and a few Edwardian suits. One actress had her share of troubles cast in the part of a child—there wasn't a child's costume small enough to fit!

Jim Branham portrayed the stage manager—the chief interpreter of the play, while Vicki Eaton starred in the role of Emily. Other cast members were: Mark Grubbs as George, Robert Stewart and Pamela Phillips as Mr. and Mrs. Webb, and John Masters and Peggy Curtis as Dr. and Mrs. Gibbs.

Speech, NFL, Debate compete, win again

Meetings of the 80-member Speech Team are held every two weeks at Mrs. Alice Goodrum's home. A memorable social event was a masked Halloween party and weiner roast.

The Speech Team arises early on Saturday mornings traveling to different high schools in the state to participate in speech meets. One meet was held at Lafayette Jefferson. Members of the team have won an average of nine ribbons per contest in categories including broadcasting, impromptu, humorous, and boys' and girls' extemporaneous.

The National Forensic League, also sponsored by Mrs. Goodrum, is a very active club at Tech. Members must earn 25 points in debate or speech meets to qualify for membership.

Speech Team members predominated in STAGE DOOR, the fall all-school play directed by Mrs. Goodrum.

Taking 80% of their rounds, Tech's Debate Team has won recognition throughout Indiana and received many invitations to debate in different schools. Not only high schools vied for Tech's presence, but the University of Pittsburg asked the team to take part in an invitational debate.

The team consists of 13 members, but only seven have taken part in meets. They won many ribbons, but the greatest thrill was to win a trophy in November for being undefeated at Culver Military Academy.

Members also scheduled a trip downtown to the Bowers Envelope Company to learn about large scale publishing and producing.

Spelunking was a very popular activity with the Chemistry-Physics Club. In the fall of the year the club went to Sullivan's Cave. There the members studied rock formations and investigated passageways. The club also performed experiments. This year they worked mainly with gyroscopes and hallograms.

On April 11, the State Chess Contest was held at Tech, and approximately 50 teams from around the city participated. Chess, a sport interesting more boys than girls, drew more members to Chess Club this year than ever before. Golfers rack up best season, win eight

The '69 Titan Golf Team won more matches during the season than any other team that Coach Quillen has instructed. The team won eight matches against eight defeats.

The team was led by three-year letterman John Green. Jim Johnson and Felix Ricks played numbers two and three respectively. The remaining spots were filled by Dave Hartson, Dave DeVitt, Ken Phillips, Rick Schmidt, Kurt Grindstaff, and Russ Nichoalds.

One of the Titans' roughest victories was against Chatard. Freshman Rick Schmidt won the match in the pouring rain by chipping in on the last hole for a par to give the Titans a 7-5 victory.

Five returning players, three of whom are lettermen, will play on next year's team.

Varsity baseballers win nine, lose eight

The '69 varsity baseball team enjoyed excellent pitching from Ray Roark who won six games. Charles Hoskins is credited with two games, and Paul Wilson, a single. The team's 9-8 season tally included a 21-3 win over Attucks, and a 33-0 victory over Wood, the latter a no-hitter pitched by Ray Roark.

The team will have eight returning lettermen who will compose all of the infield and most of next season's pitching. Ray Roark, the winningest pitcher of the '69 team and Bill Beck were the only two lettermen lost. Coach Moreman expects to have a good pitching staff with Wilson and Hoskins returning, and a good infield and outfield with Tom Hickey, Sam Pounds, Steve Funke, Jack Harmon, Roger Payne, Larry Ward, and Kevin Loux to back the pitching up.

Four firsts, City fall to varsity trackmen

The '69 Track Team, with one state champ hurdler and several other outstanding runners, boasted four firsts in multi-school meets including their second consecutive city title.

The Titans were undefeated through their dual team meet season and placed first in the North Central Relays, the Tech Invitational, the City meet, and the City-County meet. In the Sectional North Central placed first ahead of the second-place Titans, the first time any team placed higher than the Titans thus far in the season.

Ron Sayles, completing his first year on the team, won the State competition in the high hurdles, and he also broke the school high hurdle record. Other records fell at the mercy of Alvin Lee who broke the 880 record, and Mike Baird who tumbled the high jump record.

Varsity harriers place fifth in State

Coach Bruce McGeath's varsity Cross Country Team produced an outstanding season. The seven-man team was composed of senior runners Ron Buses, Charles Webster, Rick Smith, Jerry Laker, and Warren Tiffany, and juniors Ron Davie, and Bruce Price. The team collected an undefeated dual and triangular meet season and firsts in the City, Sectional, Regional, and Columbus Invitational, and finished fifth in the State. In the cold rain during the State meet the Titans couldn't quite find the winning combination. Ron Davie finished ninth individually and was the only Titan to place in the top fifteen.

For the fourth consecutive year, a winning season eluded the varsity Titan grid-ders. This season showed the best production of wins and the least number of losses in four years. They did have a 3-5-2 record as games were lost on critical mistakes in the closing minutes of play.

The three victories came on 19-0 defeats of both Warren Central and Manual, and edging Shortridge 13-12 in the final quarter. The Titans tied Broad Ripple who finished the season ranking second in the City, and Marshall, who was also ranked very high.

The Titans led from the outset in the Warren Central and Manual games, but had to stage a come-from-behind victory over Shortridge. Ron Sayles scored the final touchdown on an 11-yard pass from Paul Wilson, and then Tom Hickey kicked the game-winning extra point with about five minutes left in the game.

Coach Medcalf said that the players were about the hardest working bunch of guys that he had ever coached and that they played as hard as they could during every game, although he too had anticipated a winning season. Injuries and critical mistakes dissolved that anticipation.

Out of 23 lettermen, only eight will return next year. Many trophies were awarded at the end of this season. Tom Hickey received one for the outstanding defensive lineman, and he also made all-city team for defensive end. Kent Clark was the outstanding defensive back. Jack Harmon was the most improved player. Vic Breland was the best offensive back. John Crenshaw received a trophy for the outstanding offensive lineman. Steve Breland was the outstanding linebacker because he made 111 tackles this season—more than Howe's Tom Marendt.

The reserve football team had their first losing season since 1966 when they dropped seven games, and won only two. The team, coached by Walter Dininger won four games against six losses. Two of the victories came on forfeits by Marshall and Shortridge. The other two wins were a 14-12 edging of Howe, and a 6-0 defeat of Warren Central.

Keith Hall led the team in scoring from his running back position, and Coach Dininger thinks he might make a good varsity prospect next season. Jeff Jacobs and Denver Jordan alternated as this year's signal callers. John Whitthorne and Harvey Brooks were also outstanding running backs.

The reserve defensive team was led by Nathan Rush, Mark Jarrett, Bob Coffin, and Elliot Varnardo. Coach Dininger thinks many of these boys will be good varsity prospects able to fill the positions left by the 13 graduating seniors.

PRACTICE MAKES PERFECT. Reserve footballers found that out as they ran through plays like these every day after school. They repeated maneuvers until they had them down pat.

Scecina, Marshall highlight 2-5-1 season

The freshman football team under the direction of coach John Hurrle stumbled to a 2-5-1 season record. The highlights of the two win season were a 16-0 rout of Scecina, and a 22-6 thrashing of Marshall.

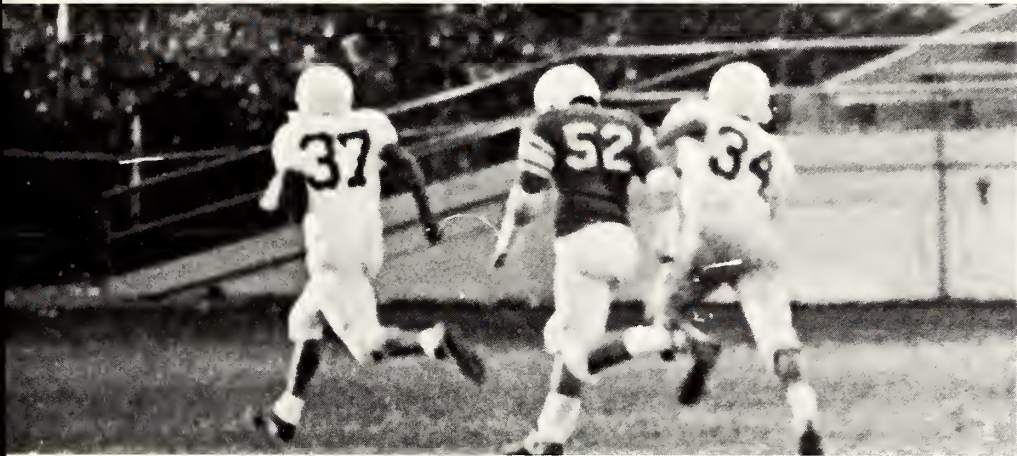

Kenny Breland led the Frosh in scoring with three touchdowns from his end position. Other outstanding players were backs James Twigg, Fred McGuire, and Louis Woods. Darryl Williams was an outstanding lineman, and Stan Lawrence an outstanding end.

Coach Hurrle said that ineligibility might have been one reason for the disappointing season, as he lost seven starters due to failing grades.

The "Impossible Dream" came true for the varsity Titan netters on Saturday, February 28. Shortridge, ranked eighth in the state, picked to win the State title by several sportswriters, boasting a 19-4 season record and the city championship, fell at the hands of the Kendrick-led Titans. Behind by 16 points at halftime, and as much as 20 in the second quarter, the Titans recovered in the second half to take a 75-69 victory. The second-half comeback was spurred by a 31-point showing of possible All-Stater Frank Kendrick. Frank helped foul out the Blue Devils' two big guns, George Tandy and Charles Jordan. After they were gone Shortridge's doom was near.

In the final game of the sectional the Titans met the Attucks Tigers. Twice the Tigers had beaten the Titans, once by two points and then again by twelve in the city tourney. During the first half with Attucks, the Titans took up where they left off against Shortridge. At halftime the Titans led by four and almost owned the boards. But during the second half it looked like a different team playing Attucks. Tech could not get any rebounds and so Attucks bounced back to take a four-point victory.

Tech's first upset of the sectionals came against county champs North Central. Earlier in the season the Panthers had dumped the Titans by 14 points. But, this time it was all Tech from the outset. Tech was ahead by nine at halftime and by 19 at the end of the third stop. The reserves took over in the fourth quarter and North Central tried to stage a comeback to no avail. The victory was led by Frank Kendrick's 35-point rampage. Junior guard Larry Ward contributed 20 points, and Kyle Fort put in 17 in a reserve role.

The Titans finished the season with a 15-9 record—much better than last year's 10-11 record. Frank Kendrick was the main work-horse throughout the season. He averaged 29 points per game and scored 702 during the season, breaking the old record held by former star Jim Price. Frank received help from juniors Larry Ward and Bruce Johnson, and occasionally Tom Hickey or Kyle Fort would come up with a game scoring more than 10 points.

The Titan reserve basketball team under coach Ernest Cline's supervision started the season with five straight victories and went on to finish with a 17-3 record.

The team was led in scoring by Shirley Glover who dumped in 220 points for an 11 point average. Right on Glover's heels for the scoring lead was Harvey Brooks who put in 218 points for a 10.9 average. Glover also led the team in shooting percentage, hitting 49.7 percent from the floor and 75.6 percent from the charity stripe. Arthur Johnson led the team in rebounding with 186. He hauled in 25 in the city tourney game against Attucks.

Balanced scoring and a 1-2-1-1 zone press were the biggest assets to the team this season. As a team they hit 39.9 percent from the field.

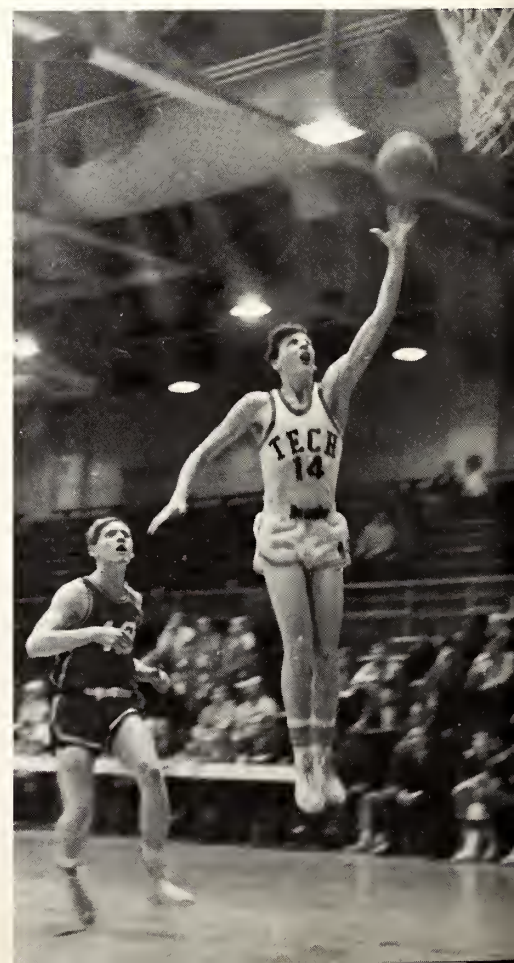

Probably the best game the team played all season was a 20 point shellacking of City Champ Cathedral. Coach Cline said that they "blew them out of the gym" during the last three quarters with their zone press.

Freshmen cagers have 7-9 season

Coach Jay Kleine's freshman basketball team lost five straight games during the early part of the season, then lost three straight at the last of the season to finish with a 7-9 record.

Coach Kleine said the main reason was the shooting percentage. He said that there were several games where they did not hit over 25 percent. He also said that if they had hit a little over 30 percent they probably could have won six more ball games.

Donny Williams was the team's leading scorer with an 11.2 average. Behind him were Charles Black and Ben Hampton with 9.7 and 9.1 averages respectively. Hampton was the team's leading rebounder with 141 for the year, and Black was right behind him with 136 rebounds.

Rex Marshall 145-pound state champ

Rex Marshall, a senior 145-pound wrestler, took all the marbles this year as he won the state championship in his weight class. Rex was picked to win the sectional and he did. In the final match he beat the North Central Conference champ who had a 16-1 record.

In the afternoon match Rex pinned his Richmond opponent who was the North Central Conference runner-up. During the final match of the regional Rex was pitted against a wrestler from Brownsburg who held an 18-1 record. Rex defeated him 10-4 and thus moved on.

West Lafayette's undefeated 145 pound matter was Rex's match in the afternoon of the State. He had won the sectionals three years in a row, but he also fell at the mercy of the Tech Titan. Rex's final opponent from South Bend Washington had lost with only one minute left in the match. In just fifteen seconds Rex scored three points to win 4-0 and collect the state championship.

Rex's three year varsity record was 55 wins against 13 losses. He won the City in both 1968 and 1969. He was Washington Invitational champ in 1968, 1969, and 1970. He finished this year with a 24-2 record losing only to North Central and Ben Davis.

Junior Steve Breland, a 155-pound wrestler, also won the sectional, but was defeated in the regional.

WORDS-PER-MINUTE increase as Reading Lab pupils discover the importance of the pacer.

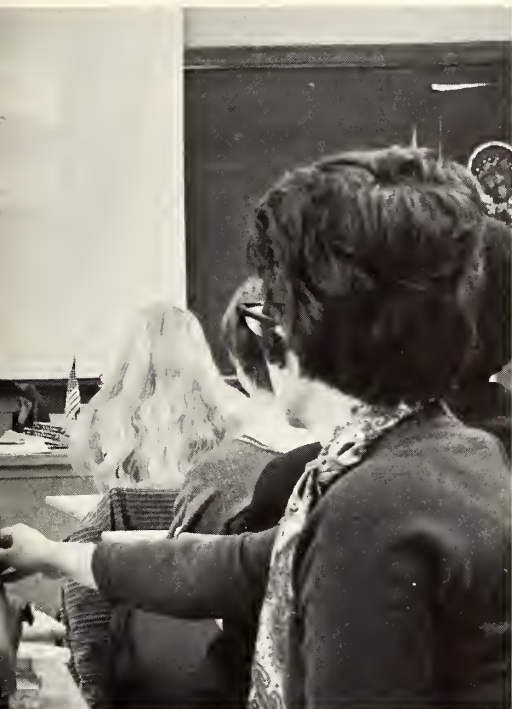

GETTING THE IDEA ACROSS for English VIII pupils, Mrs. Arvilla Bennett uses the film-strip projector. The subject was English romantic poets of the Nineteenth Century.

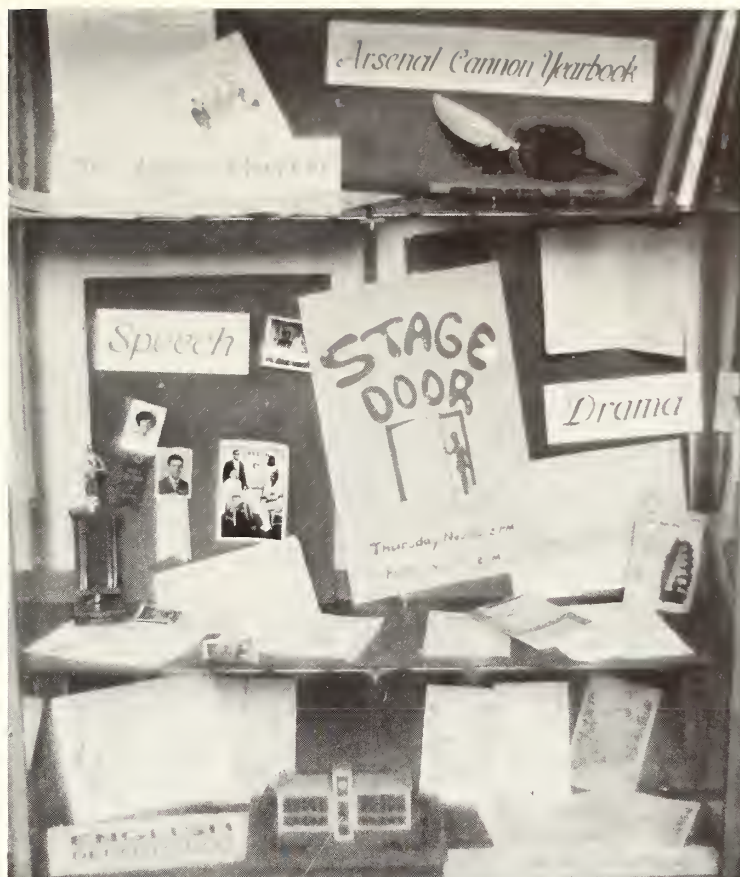

USE OF THE OVERHEAD PROJECTOR in English class makes an assignment easier. Terri Wong demonstrates as classmates Bob Platt, Mike Stanfield, Bruce Oakley, Pamela Roots, and David Quackenbush observe the progress of a lesson in paragraph development.

AGAIN, visual aids play a most important role in advertising the English Department play, STAGE DOOR.

Visual aids active in English Department

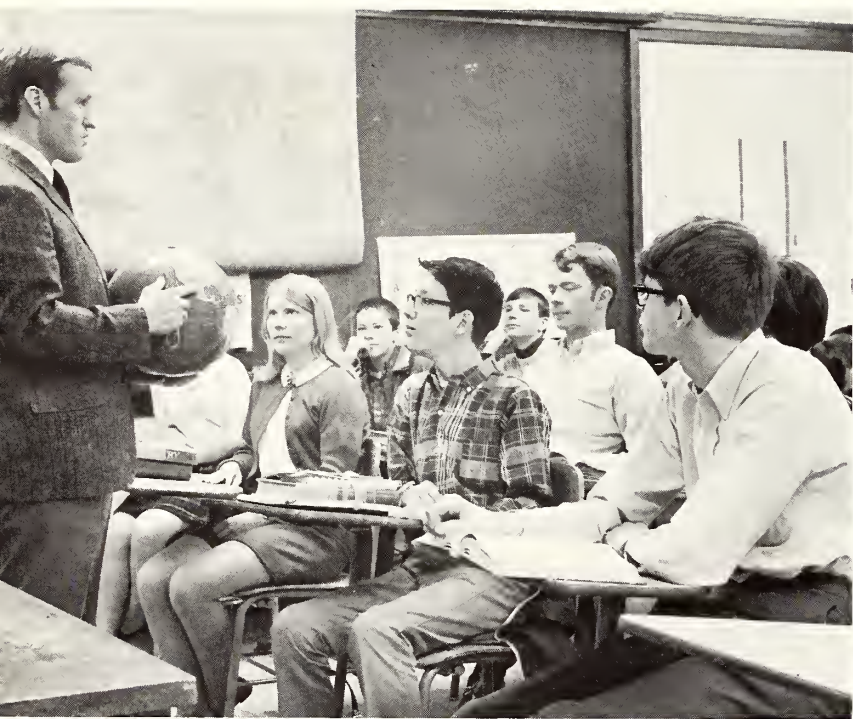

WITH THE AID of the Craig Reader, Billy Mayhew receives eye training to improve his reading speed and comprehension.

"This year we are concentrating on getting the idea across with the use of more visual aids," said Irene Rhodes, head of the English Department.

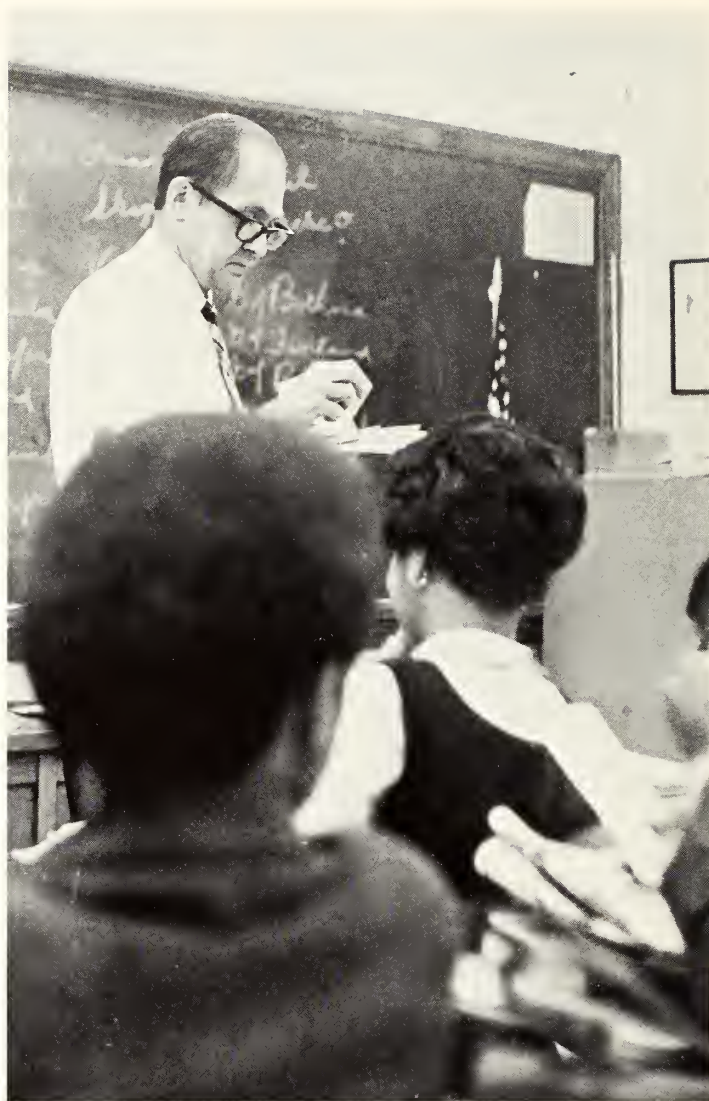

The visual aids she was speaking of are the Craig Reader, and probably most familiar to all, the overhead projector, filmstrip projector, and motion picture projector.

The filmstrip projector was most effective in dealing with the lives of poets presented in "g" classes. The overhead projector, using transparencies, stressed writing techniques. The Craig Reader, used both in English classes and in the Reading Lab, stressed the meaning of the whole sentence, guiding the reader into an easier understanding of what he read.

Still striving for individual understanding, the English Department has introduced another innovation this year, speakers. Students have heard informed lectures on such subjects as poetry and the arts.

"For too many years, helpful suggestions about problems of cultural development have gone unrecognized, but now the way is open as a result of Unigov," says Mr. Wm. Siedlecki, head of the Social Studies Department. Under Mr. Siedlecki's direction, a new course at Tech in Cultural Development is taking shape. Open to juniors and seniors, the new course will concentrate on getting the INDIVIDUAL interested in HIS government, and HIS community's problems. As yet, the new course is still on the drawing-board, but it is hoped that within the near future, plans will move into full swing toward completion, and high school students will have a greater chance to develop an interest in current urban problems.

In addition to planning the new course, Tech's history department is concentrating on discussing in depth, current problems and historical issues, in an attempt to help the pupil relate the two.

STUDENTS IN SOCIAL STUDIES may be learning only about the past, but they surely have good ideas for the present and future as they build the "Code of Conduct" for Tech High students.

Speaking English is hard enough for some students at Tech, but many find it fun and fascinating to discover and explore a new language. Students begin by learning the fundamentals of the new language; practicing fluency, accent, spelling, and pronunciation. Later they work their way up to writing short stories, giving speeches, and acting out small skits for their classmates.

Teachers instruct their students with patience and hope that their knowledge of the language will soon be transferred to the many Techites, who are "foreign" to the new language. Many hours are put in by the language instructors to prepare exercises and tests which will be challenging, but not too complicated.

An Art Gallery at Tech? It's not impossible; we do have a professional gallery, backed by student work from our art classes.

The most basic classes are Art I-VIII, craft art, commercial art, and sign painting. Jewelry, photography, stage craft, metal crafts, sculpture and art appreciation are offered also.

The vocational program is being emphasized more and more by the department. It is possible to receive a vocational certificate in commercial art, sign painting, jewelry, and starting this year, photography.

Perform! That's the word for Tech's busy Music Department. With 1,050 pupils enrolled in the various classes, the department takes up almost all of the second floor of the Cafeteria-Music Building. There are ten performing groups, ranging from the 90-member band to the 14-member Burt Handbell choir. Besides providing music for school programs, the musical organizations present a total of 150 outside performances each year. To train members, classes in chorus, orchestra, and band are offered. Besides these standard music courses, special classes such as music appreciation, directing, and four years of music theory are offered as career courses.

STUDENTS ponder over troublesome problems in General Math class while Mr. Hafize Shah, exchange teacher from Pakistan, lends a hand.

Starting this year the Math Department is offering three new courses, unified math, applied statistics and senior arithmetic. Although this program is a city project, it was first originated at Tech. Another change will be the one made in the business math courses. The students will be working with new materials such as workbooks and worksheets. A time schedule will be worked out dividing class time into two sections. The first half will be for discussion while the last half will permit the student to work out the actual problems. Through the efforts of the faculty and students, Tech will truly earn a reputation as a progressive school according to John Stoeckinger, department head.

Advanced chemistry classes developed techniques in qualitative and quantitative analysis. Advanced physics pupils used sophisticated equipment including the laser.

Biology, too, can really be interesting, especially for the advanced pupil. Making slides for microscope study is a very involved and fascinating process. Embryology deals with the development of unborn organisms. The bacteriology pupil may grow his own cultures. A good memory and a bad nose are needed in Biology IV; ninety-nine per cent of the course involves dissecting.

Tomorrow's homemakers prepare today

If you would like to become a beautician, but are not really sure, take cosmetology. Cosmetology, open to all girls, teaches good grooming and shows the girls what the profession of a beautician is like. Girls also use new equipment for straightening hair.

Cooking classes are called upon many times to prepare and serve food for guests who visit Tech for luncheon or tea.

The humming of sewing machines isn't an unusual sound in sewing class. Girls work earnestly to complete dream outfits of their own creation.

Classes in child care and nursing give training for practical experience in home-making. Government pamphlets are used as texts.

Housing and Management and Commercial Foods round out the Home Economics Department curriculum.

GIRLS IN CLOTHING CLASSES experience the thrill of creativity making their own dream outfits from lengths of cloth, ideas and work. Joane Sullivan, Sherry Davidson, Ira McAfee, Rita McFall, and Patricia Monday.

Tickets, tape fly as pupils play store

"Half-gallon milk, 59¢; one dozen doughnuts, 72¢; quart of orange juice, 39¢. Looks like breakfast! Will that be all, ma'am?" Common everyday talk has now become a part of the Tech Way. Room 15 in the Arsenal building has been converted into a small-scale supermarket to accommodate the Cashiering class new this year to the Business Education Department. Four of the latest models of cash registers have been set up with shelves and shelves of groceries surrounding them.

In an effort to attract new cashiers and clerks to the grocery business, members of the Indiana Retail Grocers Association, such as Stokely Van Camp, have supplied the class with authentic containers. Also, radio time has been bought to encourage other Indianapolis citizens to enroll at Tech in the cashiering class.

The floor is covered with wall-to-wall green carpet, and tables and chairs are available for work not done with machines. Books to aid students, and films on cashiering are visual aids for the pupils enrolled.

The class is also offered in the Tech Evening School Division.

"Would you like to have a solid steel copy of an egg?"

"Impossible!"

Not so with Tech's Metal Trades Department. With the new Bridgeport 3-D Mill a machinist can copy any three-dimensional object in solid steel. This is just a part of the story of what's happening in the five metal trades shops. Courses are patternmaking, described above; foundry, casting metal objects, machining, making very accurate parts; sheet metals, forming ductwork and metal furniture; and welding, transforming two pieces of metal into one. Any Techite interested in a high-paying vocation may prepare himself.

The Auto Aviation Department is one of the busiest places on campus. Classes in auto mechanics, auto body and aviation are offered. Anyone interested in learning to put new fabric on an airplane or rebuild auto air conditioning systems will find his place in this department. Other skills developed are engine tune-up, body painting and electrical work.

Industry has lucrative positions waiting for pupils holding the vocational certificate from this department. Sam Dudkowski, department head, commented, "The day of the shade tree mechanic is over. You can no longer repair a car with a hairpin and screwdriver. Auto repair has become a highly technical business."

BUILDING TRADES lays the sub-flooring for the house they constructed.

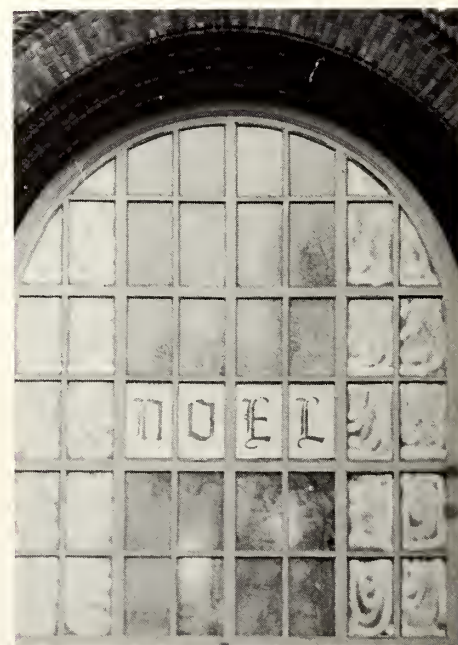

Building, Electrical Trades create dream

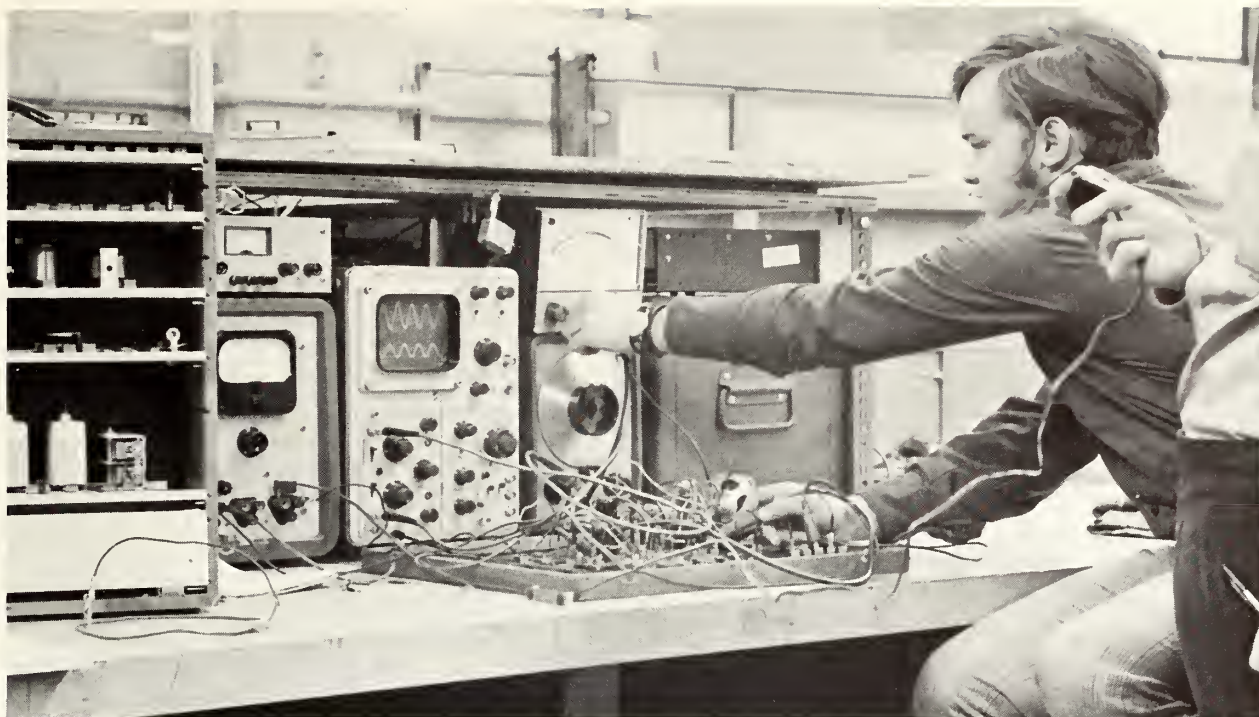

MORRIS WOODS prepares to turn the first shovel of dirt for the student-built house as Mr. Longshore and Mr. Meyer look on.

For years pupils in the Building Trades Department built houses in the shop, only to tear them down and build again. Last year, carpentry pupils built dog houses and mini-barns for permanent use. This year the dream of several years is realized: the Building Trades Department has acquired a plot of ground across Michigan Street from the campus, and pupils are constructing a house to be sold as a dwelling.

CURTIS COLWELL adjusts his instruments as he tests a circuit for flaws.

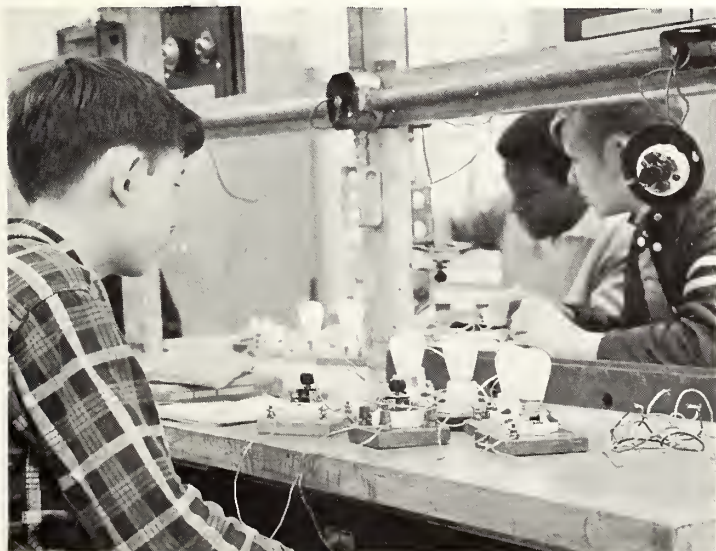

Surrounded by wires, switch boxes, fuses, and the reading materials to make this maze meaningful, elementary electricity pupils learn simple wiring. They then proceed to master more complicated circuits.

The advanced student electricians wire up complicated switches in the early stages, and later learn how to repair televisions and radios. Classes give pupils vocational and practical training.

HAVING SEEN EXAMPLES on the overhead projector, members of John Williams' class strive to improve their work.

Printing, drafting teach varied vocations

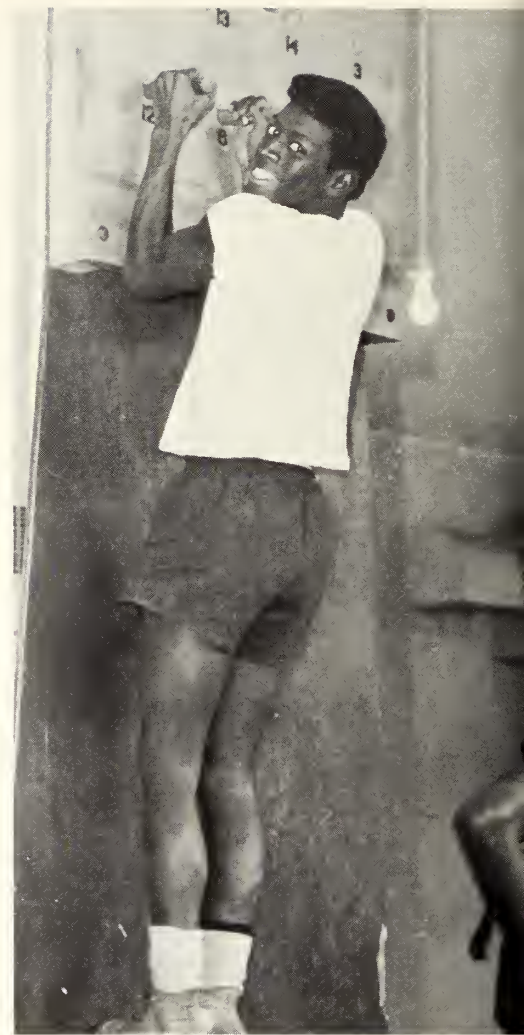

Last year the idea emerged to build a house using only Techites as the builders. To do this would take the co-operation of every vocational trade to make the structure a real house with all the necessary features. The first step in making the dream come true was to put the idea on paper. The advanced Architectural Drafting class did this. Working under Mr. Wood, the class completed its part of the project by transferring the ideas to paper and designing the house. The designs were sent to be blueprinted and distributed to the various departments that would put these ideas into a tangible form.

When pupils at Tech read their weekly newspaper, they saw the results of the newest printing techniques available. The paper was produced by pupils in Tech's large printshop. Equipment ranges from handsetting cases used by beginning students to the IBM tape-setting machines. The CANNON newspaper comes off the latest linotype equipment and is printed on one of several offset presses.

The printshop also produces the forms used in keeping records at Tech, the English Drill Book for the English classes, and various commercial jobs for non-school customers.

"I'VE GOT TO GET TO THE OTHER SIDE!" This message seems obvious as Mark Zachery "walks" his way across the parallel bars in physical education.

HANGING SUSPENDED on a pegboard seems to be a favorite activity of Willard Beard who proves he has strength and a smile both.

Gym creates strong minds and bodies

PHYSICAL EDUCATION IIIIG isn't a mandatory subject, yet these girls seem to enjoy silly games as Tonya Bruce, assistant, looks on.

Chin-ups, pull-ups, sit-ups, and now peg-ups become a part of the boys' physical education world.

A pegboard becomes a mountain when the only means of climbing it is to hang onto a small peg and place another one in a hole for progress upward. Counting helps, as it is necessary to go from one to twenty-four in numerical order.

Meanwhile, on the other side of campus, girls participate in some of the wackiest games when apparatus work is put aside. Normally doing work on skills, pupils enjoy games that imaginative physical education teachers dream up to relieve tension and build better bodies.

Drill teams cop title at invitational

The cadets of Tech's ROTC unit are especially fortunate, for they have original Civil War army barracks. This creates a military atmosphere and a sense of historic pride.

The purpose of the Reserve Officers Training Corps is to teach young men to become responsible soldiers when they later enter the service. Cadets learn that neatness, respect, and a good character are important in military training as well as in ordinary life.

Tech's ROTC is celebrating its fiftieth anniversary this year. The unit now has newly formed girls' drill and rifle teams. Both drill teams have brought honor to their school this year. At the North Central Invitational Drill Meet, the Boys Drill Team came in first place in exhibition and squad drills. They were presented with two trophies for their performance. The Girls Drill Team came in third place, and also received a trophy.

This year, Tech's ROTC had SFC Edde Colley, a Vietnam veteran, added to the staff of instructors.

BOYS DRILL TEAM MEMBERS Dean Myer, Michael Butchee, Dan Kurbursky, David Crabill, and Charles Schultz execute an s-manual exchange.

GENEVA JONES, Priscilla Burris, Mary LaFara, Kathy Scarbrough, Melanie Morphew, and Terri Wong perform a 42-count manual exchange.

CHARLES SCHULTZ and Michael Butchee execute a straight-manual exchange during competition at the North Central Invitational drill meet.

HEY, HEY, Two bits, four bits . . . Susie Cutshaw yells out one of the new cheers loud and clear.

"TITANS HAVE GO POWER," yells Linda Chapman, through a chilly game in Tech's stadium. The crowd gave quick response.

"PEEKA BOO, I see you". It's not a cheer, but Karen Shewman got a few laughs with her trick.

Cold fails to stop bold Titan cheers

WELL, what do you know? We got a touchdown. The camera finally catches Karen Darland out of action as November winds blow.

"BOO, bet I scared you, ha, ha!" Jenny Corsaro dressed in a poncho shows some "ghostly" spirit. Too bad we lost the game.

Getting an education isn't the easiest thing in the world. It's hard work. It's expensive. It takes time. But it pays off in big dividends for everybody.

Indiana is one big campus. From Michigan City to Madison . . . from Richmond to Terre Haute—Indiana boasts hundreds of educational institutions of every size, teaching every subject imaginable.

RCA knows this. It's one of the reasons why RCA's home is in Indiana. We're always looking for top-flight people to help keep us in the forefront of the dynamic, ever-changing world of electronics and communications.

Education is not only the framework on which society is built, but the measure of its progress as well. Education also helps determine the accomplishments of the individual. That's why we hope that if you're in school—you'll stay there. Both of us will be richer for it.

Indiana

RCA is an equal opportunity employer.

THE THINGS I LIKE...

HAMBURGERS ... with a special open-flame-cooked taste

SHAKES ... thick enough for spoonin'

FRENCH FRIES ... that are tender inside and crisp outside

APPLE TURNOVERS ... with flaky crusts and firm-tender, sweet filling

BIG SHEFS ... with two juicy hamburgers and secret sauce

FISH SANDWICHES ... with the best-tastin' fish filets going

Just like the other things you like ... homecoming ... having finals behind you ... spring break ... that special someone in your eight o'clock class. Burger Chef knows what turns you on.

CONGRATULATIONS
CLASS OF 1970

Landes Cap and Gown

Division of Oak Hall

1210 North Pennsylvania

THE TECH ALUMNI ASSOCIATION SAYS . . .

Congratulations Class of 1970!

Annual Reunion held each year . . . 50th and 25th Anniversary Classes are Honored—Are you a member?

Richard Watts, a new staffer, learns layout.

Thanks to those who helped—

CLEM WATTS, staff photographer, pushes all types of buttons in the darkroom to make the picture come out pe-r-r-r-fect.

THANKS . . .

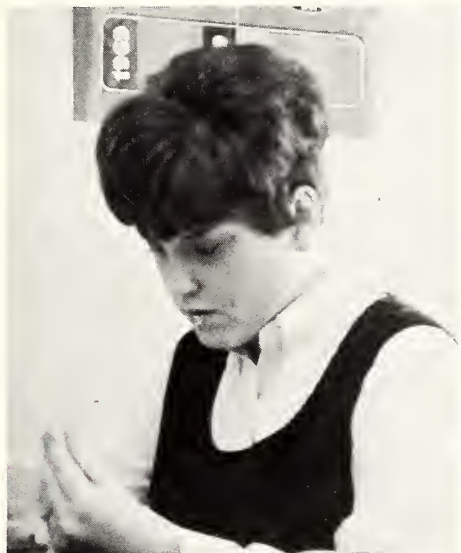

to our staff for meeting every deadline, .
even though the task required after-school sessions to our photographers for producing the hundreds of pix needed for this book to Mr. H. M. Smith for the great color shots in the opening to Tower Studios for stepping in and helping out at a moment's notice to the teachers at Tech for putting up with an endless parade of photographers into their classes and finally, we would like to thank the custodians who co-existed with our odd hours without a single complaint.

TERRI FREEMAN, ad manager, looks through her ad files to investigate a prospect.

WOW, what a jui-cee shot! Barry Wand makes the most of it.

DURING THE very cold weather, Lydia Strong takes advantage of a new privilege and wears slacks.

MARTY ROBERTSON wears her maxi-coat, a new fad that caught on during the cold winter.

OLD GLORY WAVES proudly in the breeze from the new stainless steel flag pole erected last summer.

New, Newer, Newest . . . it's at Tech

A TECHITE is silhouetted by gleaming rays of the sun as he studies at the window on the fourth floor of the Main.

. . . so that's what's new, huh? Well, great. But what about maxi-coats, girls' slacks on campus, the new ROTC and band uniforms, the new flag pole, the latest moon-shot? Even though this book has gone to press and back, things are still changing. As soon as news comes off the press, it's old. So even though we've tried as best we can, the question still stands . . . Hey Tech, What's new??

ROOM 636 apparently is hurriedly deserted as students rush out into summer vacation.

A FAMILIAR SIGHT on campus, a squirrel watches the world go by from a comfortable perch and wonders about it all.

SENIORS BETTY VanDUYN and Glenda Arnett gaze at the wonder of a new summer and plan for a life ahead.

Good-bye, Tech.

What's next?
